Introduction

This revised curriculum is aligned to the NJSLS for Social Studies that were adopted by the New Jersey Board of Education in 2016. The document is intended for use by all 3 - 5 teachers of Social Studies employed by the Lebanon Borough Public School.

NJSLS for Social Studies provided by the New Jersey Department of Education.

Social Studies Education in the 21st Century

The digital age has transformed social studies education, allowing 21st-century learners to transcend the limits of time and place and experience historic events virtually. By expanding their learning networks through online collaboration with experts and other students from around the world, New Jersey social studies students develop an increased depth of understanding of our global society. At the same time, their understanding of the fundamental principles and values of American democracy and citizenship provides the conceptual framework that allows them to make informed decisions about local, national, and international issues and challenges.

Mission: Social studies education provides learners with the knowledge, skills, and perspectives needed to become active, informed citizens and contributing members of local, state, national, and global communities in the digital age.

Vision: An education in social studies fosters a population that:

- Is civic minded, globally aware, and socially responsible.
- Exemplifies fundamental values of American citizenship through active participation in local and global communities.

- Makes informed decisions about local, state, national, and global events based on inquiry and analysis.
- Considers multiple perspectives, values diversity, and promotes cultural understanding.
- Recognizes the implications of an interconnected global economy.
- Appreciates the global dynamics between people, places, and resources.
- Utilizes emerging technologies to communicate and collaborate on career and personal matters with citizens of other world regions.

Intent and Spirit of the Social Studies Standards

All students receive social studies instruction from preschool through grade 12. The challenges of the 21st century are complex, have global implications, and are connected to people, places, and events of the past. The study of social studies focuses on deep understanding of concepts that enable students to think critically and systematically about local, regional, national, and global issues.

Authentic learning experiences that enable students to apply content knowledge, develop citizenship skills, and collaborate with students from around the world prepare New Jersey students for the 21st-century workplace. The natural integration of technology in social studies education allows students to overcome geographic borders, apply scientific and mathematical analysis to historical questions and contemporary issues, appreciate cultural diversity, and experience events through the examination of primary sources.

The New Jersey social studies standards and indicators reflect national and state standards and other documents published by the National Center for History Education, National Council for Social Studies, National Council for Geographic Education, Center for Civic Education, National Council on Economic Education, Mid-Continent Research on Education and Learning, National Assessment of Educational Progress, and the Partnership for 21st Century Skills.

Revised Standards

The revised social studies standards provide the foundation for creating local curricula and developing meaningful assessments. The revised standards are as follows:

Standard 6.1 U.S. History: America in the World. All students will acquire the knowledge and skills to think analytically about how past and present interactions of people, cultures, and the environment shape the American heritage. Such knowledge and skills enable students to make informed decisions that reflect fundamental rights and core democratic values as productive citizens in local, national, and global communities.

Standard 6.2 World History/Global Studies. All students will acquire the knowledge and skills to think analytically and systematically about how past interactions of people, cultures, and the environment affect issues across time and cultures. Such knowledge and skills enable students to make informed decisions as socially and ethically responsible world citizens in the 21st century.

Standard 6.3 Active Citizenship in the 21st Century. All students will acquire the skills needed to be active, informed citizens who value diversity and promote cultural understanding by working collaboratively to address challenges that are inherent in living in an interconnected world.

Four strands frame the content within each standard: (A) Civics, Government, and Human Rights; (B) Geography, People, and the Environment; (C) Economics, Innovation, and Technology; and (D) History, Culture, and Perspectives.

The Role of Essential Questions

Key essential questions recur throughout the study of history. They provoke inquiry and lead to deeper understanding of the big ideas that enable students to better comprehend how the past connects to the present. The essential questions created for this project, which follow, were used to frame content goals and to inform the development of the cumulative progress indicators.

A. Civics, Government, and Human Rights

- How do citizens, civic ideals, and government institutions interact to balance the needs of individuals and the common good?
- How have economic, political, and cultural decisions promoted or prevented the growth of personal freedom, individual responsibility, equality, and respect for human dignity?

B. Geography, People, and the Environment

• How do physical geography, human geography, and the human environment interact to influence or determine the development of cultures, societies, and nations?

C. Economics, Innovation, and Technology

- How can individuals, groups, and societies apply economic reasoning to make difficult choices about scarce resources? What are the possible consequences of these decisions for individuals, groups, and societies?
- How have scientific and technological developments over the course of history changed the way people live and economies and governments function?

D. History, Culture, and Perspectives

• How do our interpretations of past events inform our understanding of cause and effect, and

- continuity and change, and how do they influence our beliefs and decisions about current public policy issues?
- How can the study of multiple perspectives, beliefs systems, and cultures provide a context for understanding and challenging public actions and decisions in a diverse and interdependent world?

Organization of the Standards

The organization and content of the 2016 Social Studies Standards reflects N.J.A.C. 6A:8-5.1(a)1.iv., which requires at least 15 credits in social studies, including satisfaction of N.J.S.A. 18A:35-1 and 2; five credits in world history; and the integration of civics, economics, geography, and global studies content in all courses.

- Standard 6.1 U.S. History: America in the World applies to grades P-12; at the P and K-4 levels, content is organized by strand only; at the 5-8 and 9-12 levels, content organized by era and strand.
- Standard 6.2 World History/Global Studies applies only to grades 5-12; at both the 5-8 and 9-12 levels, content organized by era and strand.
- Standard 6.3 Active Citizenship in the 21st Century applies to grades P-12; at all levels (P, K-4, 5-8, and 9-12) content is organized by strand only.

Statement of Philosophy

The Lebanon Borough School believes in celebrating the rich history of community partnerships created through sharing of services with neighboring school systems in Hunterdon County. This ensures a consistent, high quality instruction for all learners. The social studies curriculum is built upon this belief by incorporating the Grade Level Standards within the components of a balanced science framework. This approach provides all students with equitable access to the same learning goals while allowing teachers the flexibility to adapt to the needs of their learners.

The standards below are overarching. While these standards may not appear specifically in any unit, they are the collective goals of all units.

By the end of Grade 4, students will be able to:

- Understand the concept of citizenship as it applies to New Jersey and the United States and recognize that citizens have rights and responsibilities
- Use map skills, including latitude and longitude, cardinal and intermediate directions, and map keys, to locate cities, states, landforms, and other features on different maps
- Recognize major landforms of New Jersey and the United States
- Locate the four geographic regions of the United States: the Northeast, the South, the Middle West, and the West, and identify the states that comprise each region
- Make comparisons between the similarities and differences of each region, including the history, economy, geography, and culture
- Develop knowledge of New Jersey's geography and how it has affected economic choices, the development of cities in our state, and cultural opportunities
- Learn about prominent New Jerseyans and key historical events, such as the Revolutionary War, that shaped New Jersey's rich history
- Discover the role that New Jersey plays in the global society, including economic growth through trade

STANDARD 6.2 World History/Global Studies. All students will acquire the knowledge and skills to think analytically and systematically about how past interactions of people, cultures, and the environment affect issues across time and cultures. Such knowledge and skills enable students to make informed decisions as socially and ethically responsible world citizens in the 21st century.

Please Note: While end of grade expectations for Standard 6.2 are not included as a standard of measure by the end of Grade 4, the content is addressed and the standard included to support topics such as diversity, cultures, traditions, and building community, as well as in the discovery of a historical perspective of elements of US History.

STANDARD 6.3 Active Citizenship in the 21st Century. All students will acquire the skills needed to be active, informed citizens who value diversity and promote cultural understanding by working collaboratively to address the challenges that are inherent in living in an interconnected world.

Social Studies Curriculum Guide, Grade 4 Lebanon Borough Public School Content Scope and Sequence Grade Four Specific

The Lebanon Borough Social Studies Curriculum in elementary school embodies the structures that establish and foster democratic principles of citizenship. The goal of the curriculum is to build a base of knowledge, establishing the foundation for these principles. The spiraling of knowledge depends on this solid foundation. The teacher should provide activities where a student of any ability has the opportunity to extend and expand knowledge.

The focus of the fourth grade curriculum is to develop a wealth of knowledge about New Jersey and the states and regions of the United States. By studying the nation and New Jersey, students will recognize how history, geography, and diversity have helped shape the world in which they live. Students will become aware of American traditions, values, and perspectives on society, and they will gain specific skills to become involved and informed citizens.

By using the NJSLS standards and strands as a guide, teachers should try to present a broad overview of the concepts early on in the year. The key components of the four strands are:

- Civics, Government, and Human Rights
- Geography, People, and the Environment
- Economics, Innovation, and Technology
- History, Culture, and Perspectives

The standards are embedded into the textbooks, Harcourt Horizons: States and Regions, and The New Jersey Adventure. Additionally, these concepts are addressed in the state-mandated Amistad, Holocaust, and 9/11 curricula which should be integrated throughout the year. Initiatives on character education and bullying should be incorporated with studies of citizenship. Cross-curricular concepts from all other subject areas should also be included in the Social Studies curriculum through differentiation and activities.

Teachers should teach concepts identified for the grade level in order to promote consistency throughout the district. The classroom teacher is encouraged to use flexibility and initiative in planning an integrated, developmentally-appropriate curriculum, providing students access to diverse perspectives. The teacher has the latitude to determine the sequence for teaching the curriculum. The teacher is encouraged to develop cooperative, performance-based projects to build a basic understanding of content and reach across the disciplines. Concepts overlap from third to fifth grade and are studied more in-depth in middle school. The elementary school teacher needs to develop a basic understanding for the spiral of learning. The concepts for the year are:

States and Regions of the United States

- Geographical features of the United States
- Major landforms and other features of each U.S. region (Northeast, South, Middle West, West)
- Historical development of each region
- Cultural and ethnic development and contributions
- Famous people and places
- Economic development, including industry, agriculture, and transportation
- Seasonal Extensions for Global and Societal Awareness through literature and activities, such as religious recognitions, holidays, and cultural traditions

New Jersey as a State

- History of the past and present, including geography and development of cities and counties
- Famous people and places, including immigration patterns
- Economic development, including industry, agriculture, and transportation
- Native Americans of New Jersey (Lenni Lenape), including an overview of cultural traditions, food, clothing, housing, transportation, political structure)
- Seasonal Extensions for Global and Societal Awareness through literature and activities, such as religious recognitions, holidays, and cultural traditions

Individuals in a democratic society have civic responsibilities and fundamental rights to seek societal change. In a democratic society, citizens and government institutions have certain roles and responsibilities. People can recognize the contributions of diverse cultures and appreciate how different perspectives influence society.	SWBAT: Recognize how rules and laws protect the rights of people, help resolve conflicts, and promote the common good. Understand the importance of citizens exercising their civic responsibilities at the community, state, national, and global levels. Evaluate what makes a good rule or law. Identify actions that are unfair or discriminatory, such as bullying, and propose solutions to address such actions.	Have a discussion about citizenship and what it means to be a citizen. Brainstorm ways to be a good citizen in the classroom, the school, the Lebanon Borough community, and the nation. Write a journal entry about bullying, respect, fair versus unfair, and share entries with the class. Create a list of classroom rules that reflect rights and responsibilities.
